PRESS RELEASE

SOUL is Recruiting for the Spring 2023 Semester with Classroom-Based Instruction

(Fresno, CA) Fresno EOC School of Unlimited Learning (SOUL) is re-launching classroom-based instruction after shifting to solely independent study due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Students still have the option to choose independent study if they have extenuating circumstances. The spring semester begins on January 9, 2023.

SOUL is located at 2336 Calaveras Street. The charter high school's instructional staff consists of 11 fully credentialed, full-time teachers, who serve an average of 200 students per semester. SOUL offers a rigorous academic, standards-based curriculum.

SOUL Principal, Susan Lopez says, "We strive to offer the best academic experience for all our students. For some, this means a classroom-based environment, while for others, an independent study program works best. Because each student has individual needs and circumstances, we are welcoming all students back and taking every measure to ensure their academic success while keeping them healthy." Masks are optional in the classroom.

SOUL is an excellent educational option for those seeking a small school alternative to a large, traditional high school. As a free California public charter school, SOUL does not charge tuition.
